

Abstract of the Disclosure

A portable golf practice swing pointer device for use with rubber tees at golf ball driving ranges may be massed produced in a linear array with the point end of one mating with and cut simultaneously with the tail end of the next.